American Typewriter Font

I find this to be a fitting font for the theme of the page I will be designing. I will be creating a page featuring different communist dictators and also a little bit about Karl Marx as well since he was the influencing figure behind it all.

The color palette chosen was chosen because I feel it emulates the feeling I get when I think of these people and the cornsilk color will be a nice color to show the look of an aging newspaper page. The red will most likely be the background of the page and the blue may be the accent color, I haven't been able to decide if I should use the purple or the blue or the gray for accent yet, so I decided to give myself options to choose from on that part – maybe I can work it all in. Idk.
